

BROKERS WEEKLY

THIS WEEK

Jackie, Oh!
One-time Bouvier home away from home hits the market.
Page D2

Headline news
REBNY announces new partnership with NY1.
Page D6

Double date

Kim Shepard-Fabrizi sells a double-wide condo.
Page D2

Rich pickings

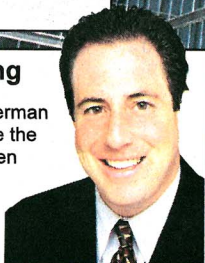

34 Berry Street enjoys a grand opening in Williamsburg.
Page D4

Platinum card
Brokerage plays its ace with midtown office expansion.
Page D5

Big opening

Stephen Kliegerman helps celebrate the opening of Toren in downtown Brooklyn.

Page D7

Party arty

Stribling's C.B. Whyte's St Patrick's bash at Chelsea Arts Tower.

Page D7

LET US PAY

Church conversions answer many buyers prayers

... Page D6

HOUSING HEADACHE

Report reveals how much the city overbuilt during boom.

... Page D5

Platinum expansion

Platinum Properties, has opened a new office in Midtown East, at 295 Madison Avenue, housing 10 agents led by Don Dascoli, the firm's new director of sales and leasing.

Dascoli just joined the Platinum team, after a five decade career, most recently as CEO for two companies in Manhattan and New Jersey.

"After years of enjoying success on Wall Street, we continued to see a growing demand from our clients for luxurious rentals and sales in Midtown and the Upper East Side," said Khashy Eyn, CEO of Platinum Properties. "Our new Midtown office will allow us to serve those broadening interests and expand our business."

Platinum has two other offices at 30 Wall Street and in Paris, France.