The BPC Report 2023 Quarter 1

A SURVEY OF APARTMENT TRENDS IN BATTERY PARK CITY

PROPERTIES

Powered by & cherre

()1

While both the average price and median price for sales in Battery Park City saw increases of 20% year-over-year over both and quarter-over-quarter, the number of units sold saw a decrease of 15.8% quarter-over-quarter and 3% year-over-year. Lower inventory is likely leading to fewer trades at higher prices. The increase in both average and median price is also correlated with the fact that there were no trades of studios in the first quarter combined with a significant uptick in the average price of one-bedrooms year-over-year of 47%. Three-bedroom and larger (3BR+) apartments saw the largest growth in units sold with a 100% increase quarter-over-quarter and year-over-year with eight total transactions. The 3BR+ category also maintains the highest average price per square foot at over $1,800.

BPC Sales by the Numbers:

• Both the average and median price increased both YoY and QoQ by an average of over 20%

• 3BR+ units showed 100% increase in units sold both YoY and QoQ

• One-bedrooms saw the highest YoY change, with the average price at a 47% increase

03

The Battery Park City rental market saw a few interesting outlier stats in the first quarter of 2023. First, price drops were up 22% since the fourth quarter of 2022. Total inventory is up just shy of 50% year-over-year, which is a first-quarter statistic we haven't seen over the past 10-year period. Studio rentals saw a 120% increase in units rented year-over-year, in sharp contrast to the studio sales market in Battery Park City. Three-bedroom units stayed flat in terms of units rented year-over-year and saw a 50% decrease quarter-over-quarter.

BPC Leasing by the Numbers:

% Change Listing With Price Drops (QTR)

• One-bedrooms continue to dominate the transactions rented in BPC at just shy of 50%

• Price drops saw a 22% increase QoQ

• Total units rented increased 120% YoY
